Lisbon To Begin Sesquicentennial Observance Saturday

By ROBERT CURRY
LISBON — It was back in 1802 that Lewis Kinney decided to settle down in Ohio near a creek and a year later laid out a village of Lisbon. Now 150 years later the residents of Lisbon will pause for an elaborate Sesquicentennial celebration expected to attract thousands of visitors for the crowded eight-day program beginning Saturday.

Months of planning have gone into the preparation for the spectacle that will bring to life again the colorful chapters of its past. Villagers have been searching dusty trunks for costumes and relics of early days, oldtimers have been calling on their memories to relive long gone happenings and a history of the county seat has been compiled.

Although the festivities are centered at Lisbon, this also marks the 150th birthday of Columbiana County.

A pageant, "Of Years Gone By," will present the village's historical highlights from the days when Indians roamed the area of New Lisbon, (as it was called then).

Whiskers have been sprouting for weeks on the chins of the male citizenry and men and women have donned old-time hats; store windows filled with mementos and the streets, buildings and homes decorated with colorful bunting.

There will be a variety of entertainment, band concerts, parades, union religious services, a turkey shoot and other related events.

The celebration will officially open Saturday with the dedication of the new Canton Bridge by Gov. Frank J. Lausche and a drum and bugle corps contest listed as the highlights of the day.

The affair will get underway at 9 a. m. with the unveiling of historical window displays featuring old cooper tools to fine antique bisque.

The Old Stone House on E. Washington St., the home of the Lisbon Historical Society, will open at 9:30 for registration of old-timers and guests.

Then at 10 a. m. an aerial salute will open the day's festivities. At that time the attention will be focused on the Fairgrounds where a muzzle loader turkey shoot will be held under the direction of Tom Pike, local gun authority.

Eight matches for round ball type guns will be run off anytime between 10 a. m. and 3 p. m.

In the afternoon 22-rifle competition and pistol matches will be held.

At 2 p. m. the new $339,000 Canton Bridge will be dedicated, with Gov. Lausche cutting the ribbon. The governor will be luncheon guest earlier at the Salem Golf Club.

The program at the bridge will open with a short address by Gov. Lausche from the porch of the Robert Kelm residence near the bridge. Following the speech, the group will then move to the new span for flag raising ceremonies. Taking part will be the American Legion firing squad and members of the Pittsburgh Rockets Drum and Bugle Corps.

State Highway Director S. O. Linzell then will hand a pair of shears to Gov. Lausche to cut the ribbon.

It is then planned to have the official guests taken over the bridge in a replica of an early Erie Railroad Train.

S. F. McGranahan of Youngstown, western district manager of the railroad, will "hire" Gov. Lausche as the engineer for the trip. The Erie Railroad runs under the Canton Bridge.

Others scheduled to attend are Richard Orth, chief engineer of the bureau of bridges; L. F. Schaevelin, assistant director of highways; H. R. Craig, chief engineer of construction; Dean R. Sever, Division 11 engineer; Jack Kimball, division assistant; Congressmen Wayne L. Hayes, Senator Arthur Blake and Rep. Delmar T. O'Hara.

Columbiana County Engineer Charles O. Snyder, County Commissioners, Mayor Charles Henderson of Youngstown and the mayors of all villages and cities in the county.

Opening day, "Pioneer Day," activities will then shift to the public square where at 3:30 the Lisbon High School Band will present a concert.

At 7 p. m. the "Brothers of the Brush" and "Sisters of the Swish" will hold a Kangaroo Court on the Square.

Several courts have been held in past weeks where culprits found not having beards and not wearing official hats are found "guilty" and placed in the stocks.

The full-day program will then come to a climax at 8 p. m. at the Memorial Stadium when seven top-ranking drum and bugle corps will compete for $1,500 in prizes and a trophy for the winner. It is sponsored by the American Legion. Those competing are the Pittsburgh Rockets, former national champs, Bellefontaine, which recently defeated last year's Ohio champs, Circleville, Martins Ferry, Dover, Dunkirk, N.Y., and Legion Post 4 of East Liverpool.

Thirteen judges from the All-American Drum and Bugle Corp Association will pick the best unit.

The Minerva V.F.W. drill squad will entertain between performances of the corps.

A county museum will open its doors Saturday afternoon at the McKinley School on E. Chestnut St.

County Treasurer Vincent C. Judge, county Sesquicentennial chairman, said all types of antiques from farm machinery to a hand-made pony cart from Italy will be on display.

County Boy Scouts will assist at the museum and the Kiwanis Club will sponsor rides to and from the museum starting at the square.

"Religious Heritage Day" will be observed Sunday with various village churches offering special services Sunday morning.

At 8 p. m. a community church service will be held at the Fairgrounds with Dr. Will W. Orr, president of Westminster College, as guest speaker.

Music will be provided by a 100-voice chorus under the direction of W. S. Frew.

Sunday afternoon at 3 the General Electric Co. will offer the first showing of its "House of Magic Show" at Lisbon High School. Other shows will be offered during the week.

The first performance of the historical pageant will be presented at the Fairgrounds at 9 p. m. "Of Years Gone By" written by Miss Helen Ramsey of the Lisbon Historical Society will have a cast of 400 and will feature the growth of the village.

Prior to the pageant the Sesquicentennial Queen will be crowned and her court introduced at impressive ceremonies.

Seven beauties representing Lisbon, Wellsville, Salem, East Palestine and Hanover are competing for the title.

A fireworks display will be presented following the pageant. Tuesday is "Firemen and Industry Day" with a firemen's parade of over 40 units scheduled to appear at 8 p. m.

Strategy Planned For Showdown Meeting

Red Tanks Sent To Avert Revolt

Division Rumbles Into East Berlin

BERLIN (AP)—A Russian tank division rumbled back into East Berlin today as a dangerous new wave of anti-Communist strikes marked the first monthly anniversary of the June 17 workers rebellion in East Germany.

The columns of Soviet tanks, troops and armored cars stamped and rumbled ostentatiously before dawn through Stalin Allee, a riot focus a month ago. The Russians poured into East Berlin from the southeast, the east and the north.

Soviet martial law, proclaimed at the June 17 outbreak, was lifted in East Berlin only last Saturday night. The last of the 25,000 Russian armored troops who put down the rebellion withdrew at that time.

It could not be confirmed immediately whether the Soviet forces had also gone back into other East German cities where martial law ended last weekend.

At Merseburg, near Halle, a Soviet-owned Buna synthetic rubber plant has been paralyzed since Wednesday by a sitdown strike of 14,000 workers demanding release of comrades jailed after the June 17 rebellion.

An anti-government slowdown has been under way at the Zeiss Optical works at Jena since Tuesday. Zeiss employees walked out last Saturday but were forced back on the job Tuesday when the local Russian Command threatened to "shoot every tenth striker." The new Russian march into East Berlin apparently was intended to prevent such strikes from spreading to the East zone capital.

In East Berlin 82 tanks were counted by German eyewitnesses on Stalin Allee in the first hour of the march.

Thirty-eight truckloads of armored infantry followed the tanks through the troubled housing project center.

The East German Communists warned ominously today that "Fascist nests" exist in their strategic industries. They proclaimed, in effect, a terror campaign against pro-Western Socialists in the 1,700,000-member Communist party and against influential non-Communists in the Soviet zone's labor force.

Lineback sustained lacerations and contusions and was treated at the Central Clinic.

State Patrolman Hurt In Auto Accident

Norman Kanagy, Salem state highway patrolman, is in good condition in Salem City Hospital today with contusions of the left elbow and left hip which he sustained Thursday at 3:35 p. m. in a traffic mishap at the intersection of S. Lincoln Ave. and Aetna St.

Kanagy reported to police he was driving north on S. Lincoln Ave. when a car operated by George Whitcomb of 1062 Cleveland St. emerged from Aetna St. and struck the left front of his car.

Whitcomb was cited by police for failure to yield the right of way and fined $5 and costs by Acting Mayor Ned Massa.

In another city mishap, a car driven by Louis J. Cisher of Euclid and a truck operated by Neil D. Hunt of Alliance collided at 8:43 a. m. Thursday at the intersection of W. State St. and Jennings Ave., causing some damage to each vehicle.

Columbiana Man Killed When Truck Overtakes

King George Wendell Killed Instantly On Route 7 Last Night

A 38-year-old Columbiana man was killed almost instantly at 6:45 p. m. Thursday when his truck-trailer went out of control, struck an embankment and rolled over on Route 7, seven and one-half miles south of Rogers.

King George Wendell of 119 Union St. was pronounced dead on arrival at East Liverpool City Hospital. He sustained a crushed chest, fractured skull, fractured neck and internal injuries.

Salem State Highway Patrolmen, who investigated, said there were no witnesses to the accident. As closely as the mishap could be reconstructed, it occurred in this manner, they theorized.

Wendell was driving north on Route 7, less than a mile north of its intersection with Route 30, when for some reason his vehicle went off the right berm of the road and climbed a steep embankment.

Wendell was driving a truck-trailer owned by Darling & Co. of Grove City, Pa., and presumably was driving to Columbiana from Grove City when the accident occurred, patrolmen said.

The vehicle was hauling a load of chicken wastes, which were strewn about the highway by the mishap. The truck was damaged considerably.

Wendell was born in Sugar Grove, Pa., June 14, 1915, a son of J. F. and Sarah King Wendell. He had been a driver for Darling & Co. for six months. Prior to that he was employed by the B & M Transportation Co. of Columbiana.

Foreign Groups Beat 2 Ohio Firms' Bids

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Department of the Interior has informed Rep. Hays (D-Ohio) only two Ohio firms have been underbid by foreign companies on department purchases this year.

But Hays told a newsman today he still wants to know about a multi-million dollar order which he said Westinghouse Electric Corp. lost to a Swiss firm on equipment for the atomic plant in Southern Ohio.

He said Westinghouse has plants in Ohio, even though its headquarters are in Schenectady, N. Y. Hays had asked the department for a complete list of Ohio firms that have been underbid by foreign competition in government orders.

He did this after a concern in his district, R. Thomas & Sons of Lisbon, Ohio, complained it had been underbid by a Japanese company on several hundred thousand dollars worth of electric insulators.

Asst. Secretary of the Interior Fred G. Aandahl, said the only other underbid Ohio concern was the Standard Transformer Co. of Warren, Ohio.

Standard Transformer, Aandahl wrote, was underbid by a French firm on one transformer worth around $1,700.

Allied Infantry Grinds Ahead In Central Korea

UN COUNTERATTACKS ON SNIPER RIDGE—UN soldiers, carrying a bazooka and boxes of ammunition, are pictured moving up in the Sniper Ridge sector of the Korean central front to reinforce the embattled ROK Capital Division, which has been under heavy Red fire. A combined South Korean-American counterattack, the biggest Allied offensive in two years, has stunned the Chinese Communist army, and quickly ground out gains up to one mile in this sector.

Freedom For Indochina Urged

French General Says Only Way To End War

HANOI Indochina (AP)—Freedom-seeking, anti-Communist Indo-Chinese drew powerful support today from France's top military man in the Far East. Only by giving Indochina complete independence, Gen. Pierre Navarre asserted, could France win her 7-year war against the Red-directed Vietnam forces.

American experts here, whose government is sending half a billion dollars worth of military supplies annually to bolster France's fight, also welcomed the declaration in Paris last night by Navarre, new commander in chief of French armed forces in the Far East.

Back in France from his first inspection of the Indochina fighting fronts, Navarre told the French Diplomatic Press Club only "total independence" could get full participation in the war by the French-sponsored governments of the three associated Indochinese states of Viet Nam, Cambodia and Laos.

Only such an independence grant he continued, would "permit the withdrawal of nationalist non-Communist elements now fighting in the ranks of the Vietnamese."

The new French government on July 3 proposed talks with the Indo-Chinese states aimed at greater autonomy for them, but complete independence was not offered Viet Nam and Laos readily accepted the invitation. Cambodia's King Norodom Sihanouk prepared a long list of counter-proposals.

Sen. Taft Won't Return To Senate Duties This Session

NEW YORK (AP)—A hospital bulletin said today Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio) who recently underwent an exploratory operation for a hip ailment, does not intend to return to his duties in Congress for the remainder of this session.

The announcement was made by New York Hospital, where Taft is recuperating from the exploratory operation of the abdominal wall made last week.

Taft, the Senate's majority leader, withdrew from active floor management recently when he became incapacitated by hip ailment. The hospital bulletin reported him in good condition today. It said no complications had developed.

Votaw was one of three applicants certified by the Civil Service Commission. The other two were Harold Pike of 1294 E. Third St. and Bruce Frederick of 509 Columbia St.

New Air Speed Record Is Set

Sabre Jet Pilot Flies 715.7 MPH

THERMAL, Calif. (AP)—An F86D Sabre jet and its veteran Air Force pilot have blazed to a new world's air speed record of 715.7 miles an hour. That's traveling one mile as you count to five.

Lt. Col. William F. Barnes, 32, sometimes reaching speed of more than 12 miles a minute in the nine-ton jet interceptor, eclipsed yesterday the record of 698.505 established only last November over the same three kilometer (1.863-mile) course by Capt. J. Slade Nash.

Barnes flashed through two complete contest runs, each consisting of two trips in both directions along the straightaway course. Each of the eight trips was faster than Nash's record and the best was 721.364 when he wind was in the colonel's favor.

Barnes broke the record with an average of 713.6 on the first run. He charged planes and came back to re-establish the record a couple of miles per hour higher. Each run was at about 100 feet altitude.

The speed pilot said the weather for the runs was quite turbulent. "We didn't have the optimum conditions today," he commented. "The temperature was right (over 100 degrees), but I think the turbulence and wind cut the speed down."

How long does he think the record will last? "From what I hear there are several airplanes coming along which will be capable of higher speed when they have the bugs worked out. We're progressing fast."

Red Assault Gained 7 Miles, Reveal; U. S. Troops May Be Part Of Fierce Counterattack

SEOUL (AP)—Fiercely counter-attacking allied infantrymen—perhaps including Americans—whittled down Red gains of up to seven miles on the flaming Central Front today in what Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor called "the first resumption of open warfare in two years."

Latest reports cleared by censors said South Korean soldiers hit and overran about 1,500 Chinese Reds in the Kumsong River Valley.

Taylor, U. S. 8th Army commander, disclosed the Chinese Reds' massive 10-division offensive this week—mightiest in two years—flattened the Allies' Kumsong bulge. This meant a U. N. withdrawal of up to seven miles and total Red gains of up to 60 square miles.

The 9th American Corps and 2nd Korean Corps were identified as manning the Kumsong River line—the first disclosure that U. S. infantrymen were in the area hit by the giant Red push.

Tight military censorship hid official mention of whether Americans were taking part in the big counterattacks.

Taylor said the front was stabilized "generally along an east-west line at the base of the former salient"—where the Allies held a seven-mile northward bulge as a result of gains 20 months ago.

Dispatches cleared by censors meanwhile told of successful South Korean counterattacks at both sides of the front, backed by swarms of American and Allied war planes and thunderous artillery.

The ROK Division which Thursday night smashed a Chinese attack aimed at the vital highway junction of Kumsong, western anchor of the Central Front, was identified by Taylor as the 9th heroes of savage fighting at White Horse Mountain last fall.

Friday the ROKs launched a daring counterattack and recaptured two outpost hills. Taylor said the South Koreans inflicted heavy losses on the Chinese.

Larger Gains Reported Other South Koreans were officially reported to have scored even larger gains—more than a mile—on the Kumsong Front to the east, where the Reds had advanced up to seven miles Monday and Tuesday.

Associated Press Correspondent Forrest Edwards called the Kumsong counterattack the biggest Allied advance since late autumn, 1951.

Taylor said U. N. units recovered rapidly from blows of the Chinese offensive, which he estimated at a strength of 10 divisions—80,000 to 100,000 troops.

"The attack has been intermittent across the front during the past two days," Taylor said, with the exception of the two major ROK actions at Kumsong and in the Kumsong Valley, about 15 miles apart. Presumably there were U. S. troops somewhere between.

Taylor's statement said only that the U. S. 9th Corps was defending part of the front hit by the Red onslaught. There was no indication which divisions were on the line. Included 3 U. S. Units

Latest available information showed the 9th Corps made up of the U. S. 40th, 3rd and 45th Divisions.

16 Semifinalists Seek Beauty Title

France, Turkey, U. S.,
Japan, Italy Applauded

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Which of 16 near-perfect contestants is the most beautiful girl in the world?

The answer—sure to give judges of the Miss Universe contest some uneasy moments—will be known tonight.

There were at least 16 impressive performers in the field of 26 competing in last night's preliminaries, judging from the applause of 2,500 spectators in Long Beach Municipal Auditorium.

The judges somehow accomplished the job of narrowing the group to 16 semifinalists, but their identity will not be announced until tonight. From there, the field will be cut to five finalists, from whom will come Miss Universe.

The most popular girls, on the basis of audience reaction, included Christiane Martel of France, Turkey's Ayten Akyol, Japan's Kinuko Ito, Italy's Rita Stazi and the newly crowned Miss United States, Myrna Hansen of Chicago.

Perhaps the biggest single hit of the evening was Miss Japan's appearance in a white evening gown with hand-painted red roses on the skirt.

Another group with an extremely good chance of winning the gold and silver Universe crown might include: Alicia Ibanez, Uruguay; Christel Schaack, Germany; Emila Arosemena, Panama; Maxine Morgan, Australia; Lore Felger, Austria; Ana Lepe Jimenez, Mexico; and Doretta Xerou, Greece.

The beauty of the lavish evening gowns brought gasps from the feminine portion of the crowd. The men showed more enthusiasm for the bathing suit competition, especially when Miss United States, Miss Italy and Canada's Thelma Brewis walked down the runway.

The 16 semifinalists will do their stuff in both formals and swim suits again tonight, and will undergo a slight test of personality and poise. Each will be asked to say a few words in any language she pleases.

The panel of 12 judges includes Rhonda Fleming, Joan Evans, Jeff Chandler and make-up man Bud Westmore of the movies. And that's what all the girls are shooting for.

Miss Universe will get a movie contract from Universal-International studio, a sports car, an expensive watch and other jewelry.

Princess Margaret Unconcerned By Furor Over Her Romance

LONDON (AP)—Smiling and seemingly carefree, Princess Margaret came home today to a Britain buzzing with fussing about her latest romance and lacking the presence of her reported boy friend.

The man in the story, divorced RAF Group Capt. Peter Townsend, went to Brussels two days ago as the new air attaché at the British Embassy there. Many Britons think he was exiled from his post as a palace aide because the 22-year-old princess reportedly wants to marry him.

But if his absence or the talk about them bothered the princess, there was no outward sign of it on her pretty face as she and Queen Mother Elizabeth arrived at London Airport by Comet jet airliner after a 16-day tour of Rhodesia.

Margaret quickly set at rest any apprehension that she might be embarrassed by the stories being told about her. She faced the 2,000 Londoners behind the airport railing with utmost poise and confidence.

Dressed in pink, she sood under a silver wing of the sleek airliner and waved gaily at the crowd.

Queen Elizabeth II, in a light green frock and white shoes and gloves, was at the airport to greet her younger sister and her mother. With the Duke of Edinburgh, she entered the plane for five minutes of private greeting.

After goodbyes to the crew and officials, the royal party drove off to Buckingham Palace and to Clarence House, where the Queen Mother and Margaret now reside. The press furor over the royal romance rumor continued unabated.

Magistrate Raps Curb On Women Cab Drivers

BALTIMORE (AP)—A woman magistrate yesterday had some sharp words for a police inspector who proposed restrictions on night cab driving by women on the heels of a rape attempt on one of them.

"Which hours she will or will not work is the free choice of the woman citizen," said Housing Court Magistrate Elizabeth Brown. And, she added, "It is the duty of the police department to protect all citizens in their lawful pursuits."

Ike Signs Excess Profits Tax Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—The excess profits tax is back on the books, signed by President Eisenhower yesterday less than 24 hours after Congress completed action on a six months' extension.

Its course through the House was stormy. The extension was fought stubbornly by Chairman Daniel A. Reed (R-NY) of the tax-writing Ways and Means Committee.

The tax, which is over and above regular corporation taxes, takes 30 per cent of profits defined as excessive. The extension, from last June 30 through Dec. 31, is expected to produce 800 million dollars.

The seas off Cape Hatteras are particularly rough because Atlantic currents there clash with the Gulf Stream.

Ray Bliss Insisted Planks Be Fulfilled

100th Assembly Carried Out All GOP Platform Promises

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Enactments of the Republican-controlled 100th General Assembly draped a mantle of meaning over the GOP state platform.

The Legislature made an almost plank-by-plank fulfillment of the platform promises for the first time in the memory of veteran politicians of either party.

Considerable credit for the platform record went to Ray C. Bliss of Akron, Republican state chairman.

Bliss, who picked the state GOP organization out of the doldrums some years back, insisted early in the session on efforts to carry out the platform. He acted as liaison between Senate and House leaders at policy meetings. The role fell to Bliss because the governor, who normally would perform that function, was a Democrat.

The state GOP chief charted the course at an early policy meeting when a veteran Republican legislator objected to using the platform as a guide for legislative enactments.

"So what if we don't follow it," the veteran reportedly remarked, "we never did before."

But Bliss insisted on respectability for the party platform and leadership. The record left by the Legislature when it quit work last Tuesday showed how well Bliss prevailed.

"I'll bet the people read the next Republican platform," one politician observed. The present platform was adopted at the July 31, 1952, GOP state convention in Columbus.

The current platform, distributed by the GOP State Committee in an eight page booklet, contrasts with the previous platform of about 100 words.

The 1952 platform promised a highway program featuring new arterial roads and increased safety.

The highway program enacted by the Legislature is designed to raise an additional 42 million dollars annually to construct arterial highways. It also will permit voters next November to say at the polls whether they want a 500 bond issue to speed construction or prefer a pay-as-you-go program.

The Legislature created a department of highway safety composed of the State Highway Patrol and the Bureau of Motor Vehicles that administers Ohio's new motorists' safety financial responsibility law.

Bliss has termed the highway program the Legislature's major accomplishment.

The platform called for adequate support of public schools and other aids. The Legislature increased school subsidies 16 million dollars; authorized county committees to study school district reorganization; created a $750,000 scholarship fund for teacher training; ordered a long-range study of the entire school problem in the state, and provided other benefits.

Carrying out platform planks on agriculture, the Legislature appropriated funds for a new agriculture college center at Ohio State University and agriculture experiment station improvements. State help on Lake Erie shore erosion control and laws to force better rural telephone service also won approval.

The Legislature refused to pass bills to tighten strip mining controls despite a platform plank promising "fortright enforcement of strip mining regulations."

On welfare, the Legislature fulfilled promises to increase pensions for the aged and the blind, and to open public assistance rolls to public inspection. Appropriations provided for prison expansion, help for mental institutions, a new tuberculosis hospital in Southeastern Ohio and other "betterments."

A new department of mental health and corrections will split the big welfare department into separate compartments, unless the enactment suffers a gubernatorial veto that sticks.

Continuation of the Ohio Un-American Activities Commission to check on Communist activities in the state and other laws to help combat subversives carried out platform pledges.

The Legislature fulfilled another plank in voting $25 weekly minimum payments for totally and permanently disabled workers. The benefits applied to those receiving smaller payments granted years ago that could not be increased without legislative action.

Although the Legislature increased local government appropriations, members failed to carry out promises to ease restrictions on the ability of local governments to levy taxes.

The Legislature also failed to enact fair employment practices legislation or to provide for reorganization of the state civil service commission, both platform pledges.

Civil War Vet, 110, Takes 1st Plane Ride

BRYAN, Tex. (AP) — Confederate Walter Williams, who was 60 years old when the airplane was invented, took his first ride in a flying machine yesterday at the age of 110.

The oldest of the nation's five Civil War veterans said the flight fulfilled a dream of 25 years.

"I'd ride all day if they'd feed me," said the sprightly old fellow who made two hops in a 4-passenger plane.

A recent physical examination in Houston indicated Williams' heart was strong enough to stand a flight.

He got up at 6 a. m., two hours earlier than usual, yesterday at his farm home near Franklin. He wore a flowered sport shirt, green trousers and cowboy boots for the flight.

Butter Surplus Climbs To 250 Million Pounds

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's surplus of butter has climbed to a record of more than 250 million pounds.

The Agriculture Department reported today that stocks in cold storage on June 30 totaled 253 million pounds, or about 14 million more than the previous record set Aug. 31, 1950.

Stocks of cheese also reached a record by June 30, totaling 339 million pounds. The bulk of these holdings of butter and cheese were acquired by the government under a price support program.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A proposed constitutional amendment to assure equal rights to women was approved by the Senate yesterday, 73-11.

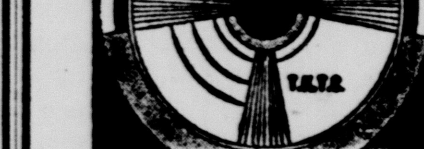

If approved by the House, it would be submitted to the states for ratification. Approval by 36 of them would be required to write it into the Constitution.

Civilization Hits Europe's Last Frontier

KIRUNA, Swedish Lapland (AP) — Civilization has invaded Western Europe's last great wilderness. About 20,000 Lapps, once wanderers with their reindeer herds through northern Norway, Sweden and Finland, are now showing a tendency to prefer nylons, cosmetics and bathtubs.

Although many still stick to the hard, nomadic life which sends them wandering in the mountains in search of good grazing grounds in summer, to the shelter of the stunted forests in winter, an ever-increasing number is settling down to regular jobs.

Most of the 800 here in Kiruna, most northerly town of Sweden, work in the iron ore mines, on the railroads, or as fishing and tourist guides.

Their picturesque dress sets them apart from the Swedes surrounding them. Men and women wear colorful knee-length padded coats of bright blue, red and yellow, caught round the waist with leather belts.

Some of the girls use lipstick and go to movies. (Their favorites are Westerns with plenty of action).

They have discarded woolen stockings for nylons.

Ingerta Bildt, a typical Lapp woman, came here from the far north after the grazing gave out for her thousand head of reindeer. Nils Anders Ponga, her 21-year old nephew, now takes her herd to the mountains in summer.

Last winter Ingerta for the first time in her life moved into a house. But the early spring forced her out again into a reindeer-skin tent which she set up in the garden. She found the house too hot. Lapp tents are built like wigwags on a framework of crossed sticks. A hole in the top lets out smoke from the central fire, which is built in a circle of stones inside.

Some Lapp tents have a radio. A few have bathtubs, though water must be carried from a stream.

For Ingerta, as for most Lapps, her economy is built upon her reindeer. Lapps use their reindeer from horns to hooves. They make clothing and bedding from the skins, grind up the bones until they are soft enough to eat, hang out the stomachs to dry and make soup from the clotted blood. The best of the meat is smoked and exported to southern Sweden.

No Atomic Cannon In Korea, Army Declares

WASHINGTON (AP) — None of the new atomic cannons are overseas, the Army said yesterday in response to questions prompted by rumors that some of the big weapons have been sent to Korea.

It is known, however, that the Army has enough of the 280-millimeter guns to equip some American forces in Korea if President Eisenhower should consider it advisable.

Such a step presumably would be considered anew if the Communists do not quickly agree to an armistice and if they continue all-out offensive operations.

ARSONIST COMMITTED

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — Thirty-year-old James Dodson, who police said admitted he set fire to six Catholic churches and the home of Police Chief Edward J. Allen, has been committed to Massillon State Hospital by Probate Judge Clifford M. Woodside.

sponsored by the Salem post of the American Legion.

Two weeks ago Mayor Harry M. Vincent gave the Legion permission to bring in the show, but none of the merchants, they say, was contacted for approval.

Nearly all were bewildered when they came to work Wednesday morning and found the encampment. Most agree that the blocking off of the street and closing of parking places will hurt their business operations.

Only a fire lane remains open on the east side of S. Broadway.

A canvass of merchants on S. Broadway elicited the following comments:

Said one, "I can't get supplies in. Even the alleys are blocked. Last year they asked us before coming in, then brought it in anyway. There's lots of room on S. Broadway on the other side of Pershing. Why didn't they park there?"

The manager of another store along the street said, "It may be good business for the Legion, but it certainly isn't for us. It looks like they railroaded it through this year because of the squabble when they were here last year."

Another store manager declared he didn't like it at all. "The dirty, filthy thing clutters up the street. These concessions are just plain gambling. Why don't the police put a stop to it?"

Some of the merchants were not so adamant in their protest. They declared it was a nuisance having the thing there but wouldn't fuss about it now that it was there. One merchant declared he could make no comment because he hadn't been in his place of business on S. Broadway long enough to know the effects.

And one store owner approved. He said he had not been contacted, but was a Legionnaire and would go along because the Legion needed the money and he was willing to help.

But the total score for 17 S. Broadway merchants adds up to 13 disapproving, three indifferent and one approving.

Whose Ox Is Gored

By DAVID LAWRENCE

"Liberals" Approve Own Investigations Only

Naturally many of the so-called "Liberal" Democrats in Congress are tired of congressional investigations — that is, inquiries managed and operated by the Republicans, with all the attendant headlines and television publicity they have been getting.

It's strange what a difference just a few months make.

Sen. Kefauver not so long ago was carrying on a television program with his Senate subcommittee.

Applause came from far and wide that here at last the gamblers and the criminals were being exposed. Only the city bosses — most of them Democrats — were antagonized, and they did finally block his nomination for the presidency, though he ran better than Truman in the primaries.

Some Democratic party leaders said the crime inquiry was not the business of the federal government at all and that, if law violation existed, it was the duty of the states and the cities to detect and punish crime.

For months it was obvious that a Senate committee was using the historic power of exposure and publicity only to draw attention to the breakdown of law enforcement among some local government bodies.

One of the indirect results of the investigation is the present legislative compact between the states of New York and New Jersey to prevent crime in the hiring of labor in the docks of the port of New York.

But now Sen. Monroney has arisen to question the advisability of some of the investigations being conducted by the Senate Committee on Government Operations headed by Sen. McCarthy.

He pleads, with reference to a possible questioning of the personnel of one governmental agency that, if Communists are to be ferreted out, "Let the FBI do it or even a special commission with congressional representation do it, if investigation is determined to be necessary."

He exhorts: "Please, please let it be done without headlines and television."

Does the Oklahoma senator mean to deprive the members of Congress of their opportunities for headlines and television appearances?

It may be that prosecuting Communists and Communist sympathizers in the court of public opinion isn't to be considered in a class with exposing criminals and gamblers so far as publicity and public service are concerned.

It may be also that the agents of Soviet gangsters who have at times infiltrated the press, the church, the theater, the labor unions and the colleges in America must be treated politely, and the news about their questionable activities must be hushed up.

It's odd that the so-called "Liberals" who want to do away with investigations unless they happen to be conducting them, or unless ham-stringing rules are now adopted to govern procedures, are forgetting that they themselves have made the most use of this safeguard against invisible government and with the same "methods" and rules as are still in vogue today.

Perhaps the most impertinent inquiry of this kind was conducted back in March 1915 by Sen. Walsh of Montana, a "Liberal" and a great constitutional lawyer who knew, of course, what freedom of the press or any other provisions of the Constitution mean.

He haled a couple of top editors from a New York newspaper before his committee and demanded to know of them why they wrote certain editorials on a piece of then-pending legislation and if certain business and financial interests owned a substantial part of that particular newspaper.

The editors answered respectfully and persuasively in denial of all accusations, and not a shred of evidence was adduced to impeach their integrity.

Nobody called for changes in the procedures of committees or for the castigation of Sen. Walsh. Indeed, he went on in 1924 to subpoena an editor and writer from a Western newspaper and found one who was mixed up in the Teapot Dome Scandal.

Whether it is the press or the colleges or labor unions or the clergy, the problem is not institutional but individual.

As for clergymen, the Right Reverend James P. De Wolfe, Protestant Episcopal bishop of Long Island, has just said in an interview that 97 per cent of the clergymen with whom he comes in contact in his diocese are loyal.

This implies that three per cent may not be loyal.

The item didn't make the big headlines. But J. B. Matthews, whose article described the vast majority of Protestant clergymen — 97 per cent as "loyal," lost his job as staff investigator of a Senate committee for venturing to say that the remaining three per cent group is larger than any other group of persons who have been supporting the Communist propaganda apparatus in America.

Incidentally, Capitol Hill researchers on Communist data say Matthews was wrong — that labor-union members comprise the biggest single group and that clergymen are only the second largest.

Such errors are serious when anti-Communists make them, but when "Liberals" make them in testimony, they are charitably forgiven as "lapses of memory" or "minor discrepancies." Everything apparently depends on whose ox is gored.

Outstanding Nature

By TRUMAN TWILL

A hot shot in the U. S. Department of Agriculture says weeds cost farmers in this country five billion dollars a year, which does not take into account the wear and tear on their backs.

Neither does it include what weeds cost us non-farmers who let ourselves get mixed up in defiance of natural law. That's what the anti-weed campaign is — a man-led revolt against nature.

If the revolt subsided, only the weeds would survive. All the interlopers which men have been trying to add to nature would perish. The tender little peas, the yummy corn, the fat cabbages and the pretty red beets would stand no better chance of survival than a mother's boy in an army camp.

I am a weed-fighter. What every weed fighter knows is that he is fighting the fittest and trying to keep alive the weakies with no natural right to survive. One single kind of weed, purslane, sometimes called "pig weed," is the fittest living thing on earth.

There is a weed called sour dock with a root so long it cannot be pulled out and must be excavated. It thrives on drought and multiplies at the pace of bureaucracy. If let alone for two years, it would blanket the earth.

Red weed has taken over the earth in spite of determined opposition. Milk weed is another all-weather, all-purpose weed that cannot be repressed. Dandelions are universally hardy and determined.

The new weed-killers continue to hold out slim promise, but those who have been using them know their limitations. They must be used again and again, and they can be used at all only under controlled circumstances lest they kill the innocent with the guilty. And while this may be only an unjustified doubt, can it be true that the weeds are developing a resistance to the killers?

Instead of fighting nature, men should cooperate with it. Wild carrots should be adapted to human use. Pig weed would make a nice salad and is used for that purpose in France. Broad-leaved plantain is the same size and quality as bibb lettuce.

Milk weed would be no harder to enjoy than asparagus. Rag weed would supplant spinach. Sour dock would be the equivalent of parsnips. Dandelions, of course, could be for humans or the birds, whoever wanted them more. Ground ivy would take the place of parsley on lamb chops and creamed potatoes.

Nature would be given her way, which she will get anyway sooner or later. And as soon as word got around that all the people were in favor of plantain and against lettuce, in favor of Queen Anne's lace and against carrots, in favor of ragweed and against spinach, none of those weeds would flourish. They'd sicken and die and the farmers could quit spending five billion dollars a year to get rid of them. The rest of us could quit grumbling. We would have outstanding nature.

Getting Around This Bird Is The Real Problem

Private Enterprise Does Function

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The only reason I am able to get out of the boiling city at all is that I can hire a teletypewriter from the telephone company. So I go to my farm and work from there — with a teletypewriter.

Recently I received a letter from a public relations firm in Washington, asking me to join in a complaint against the telephone company for raising teletypewriter rates.

Having seen what has happened to many innocent persons who sign anything that is put before them, I have made it a rule to sign nothing, but if I want to join an organization or a group, I write my own ticket and sign it on my own stationery.

LIFE, as the poet said, plays its little tricks. This public relations firm's letter arrived just as my teletypewriter went geefooey.

Within a reasonable time, an hour or so, a man was up here in the woods, working on the job, which turned out to be very complicated. The next day, six men were working on it.

I cannot get a plumber or a carpenter up here under several weeks of daily telephoning and if the job is too difficult, I might never know how it is patched up, only to make another job for the future.

Therefore, I figure that I am getting my money's worth from the telephone company and all I want to be sure of is that they do not some day tell me that they cannot afford to operate this machine because the cost of keeping it in con'fition is too high.

WHY IS IT that men are not sensible about this 53 cent dollar of ours?

It is only worth 53 cents for a big company as for a private individual and if labor wants more money, and taxes, which are a cost of living, keep high or go up even higher, prices must go up. There can be no two ways about that. In this public relations man's letter, he says to impress me:

"Our attorney was formerly an attorney for the Federal Communications Commission in the Common Carrier Division which had charge of the rates of the Bell System. He is familiar with the operations and accounting of the Bell System in its relation to TWX and similar services."

This is exactly wrong. Here is apparently an official who was paid by the people of the United States to develop expertise in a particular field, the expertness to be at the service of the American people.

BUT IN this instance, the expertness is sold to a public relations firm or its clients with the object of preventing an industry from raising its rates.

I am asked to pay $20 toward this cause, $10 for each teletypewriter I use.

I do not know how many persons use teletypewriters, but the number is large and if each sent in $10 per machine, it ought to provide a goodly sum for the public relations firm and its lawyer.

I own no stock in the telephone company or, for that matter, in any other. I would benefit directly or indirectly by higher rates. But I also do not want the telephone company to begin to economize and cut services.

FOR MANY years, I lived in countries where telephoning was a major event, involving long and irksome delays.

Most Americans are so used to good service that they take it in their stride and think nothing of it. It is this amazing service that needs to be preserved and if it costs a few kopeks more each call (a kopek used to be half a cent, which is about what our penny is worth now), I am willing to pay it.

When the telephone service goes down, I want to howl.

For one thing, I would like that famous "Girl With the Smile," who went to war or got married or something, to return to the switchboard. She was a delightful person, particularly on long-distance calls.

She was never snappy and somehow she learned how to pronounce the most difficult names.

This girl, you do not encounter as often as formerly. Nowadays, there is an efficient kind of switchboard gal who knocks your brains out at the slightest provocation.

Maybe it's the emanations from the atom bomb that made the change.

Big Four Pro And Con

By EDWARD NELLOR

The latest Chinese Communist offensive against South Korean troops is interpreted in Capital circles as another step in the deliberate attempt to destroy as much of the ROK fighting force as possible before a truce pact is signed.

Both Russia and Communist China will benefit if President Syngman Rhee's troops are decimated. Hence the continuing assaults on South Korean forces at a time when the Reds, assuming they want a truce, might be expected to go slow on battlefield activity.

ROK forces, prior to the recent Communist attacks, were the strongest in the history of Korea. A month ago Chinese Reds drove a 15-mile wide bulge two miles deep into ROK territory.

The current 75,000-man Communist attack is under way on a 12-mile sector. The assault, Defense Department information indicates, is an enveloping drive designed to cut off and squeeze through a Communist meat grinder ROK troops caught in the trap.

President Rhee was walking a big stick when he was balking in putting his name on a truce proposal. He had one of the finest fighting forces in Asia at his disposal.

His troops are U. S. trained, battle-tested and equipped with the best weapons in the U. S. arsenal. If his military forces remained strong and continued to improve in position in the post-truce period, that would give the Chinese Red leaders something to worry about.

Prior to the war in Korea, Rhee had nothing more than a constabulary, created on the false assumption in the U. S., that this was all he needed to scare the North Koreans out of the idea of attacking.

Now he has an army, and the Communists know he will use it to survive.

Chinese Communists, with far larger sources of man power, can afford to lose men at a greater rate than Rhee. And this is the reason, Defense Department officials are convinced, that the Communists continue to hammer at Rhee's troops while accepting losses Rhee cannot afford.

What can the United Nations command do about it? Nothing but fight back and maintain diplomatic pressure for a truce pact.

In Congress, among officials directly concerned with the Korean situation, such as Sen. Knowland, there is no alarm over the latest Red offensive, even though it is the largest one launched in the last two years.

In fact, without saying so bluntly, the understanding is that a Red offensive at this time may well be further proof of Communist intent to sign up for peace — once they have Rhee's troops reduced to a point that suits their post-truce plans.

U. N. forces have not launched an offensive of any size during the two-year period of truce talks. This has irritated some armchair strategists in Congress, who feel that we ought to punish the Chinese with every weapon at our command.

Military leaders are trapped in the switches on this one, however. Their inclination is, also, to inflict damage on the Reds, instead of rolling with each new punch thrown at U. N. forces, but the idea of large new casualty lists — the normal payoff of an attack — would create a storm in the U. S. Peace at the smallest possible casualty price was the policy decision arrived at with the knowledge that the Communists had the advantage of striking at will at U. N. troops.

The Reds still are doing it and Rhee's forces are being hurt in the process, just how seriously remains to be seen.

The Communists, however, have consistently licked their chops over foreign territory only when defense forces were reduced to impotency either by subversion or battlefield defeat.

Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

The Purged Get The News

The ghosts of the purged smile grimly. "It couldn't have happened to a nicer man!" is the message that goes down the line of butchered men.

"This was worth waiting for," cackles the spectre of one who once stood high in Soviet councils.

"There will be others soon!" smiles a Russian who had known a day of eminence in the Kremlin.

"Pull up a chair! We are having a guest," grins the ghost of a sold-out leader of yesterday. For this was something special, the arrival of Lavrenti P. Beria. Beria, the master of the bloodbaths... Beria, the lord high executioner, top fingerman... director of purges... the man who had for so many years bumped off so many buddies.

Now the man who had given so many "the treatment" was getting it fully.

There was no great surprise among the ghosts of the purged. They knew the pattern well. The routine was old stuff to them. Now they read the official announcements:

"After listening to the report of the Presidium by G. M. Malenkov as regards the criminal action of L. P. Beria intended to undermine the Soviet state in the interests of foreign capitalists, the Central Committee decided to remove him and expel him as an enemy of the Communist party and the Soviet people."

"Where have we heard those words before!" the ghosts of the butchered man chuckle.

"He was a bourgeois renegade and an agent of imperialism," the ghosts read on.

"That one, too!" they exclaim.

L. P. Beria was an adventurer and a hireling of imperialistic forces seeking the restoration of capitalism. The people's enemy has been unmasked," they read.

"Interesting, these old recordings," says a purged companion of Stalin. "Who's the current disc jockey?"

"Malenkov, I believe," replies another.

"The same old routine, even to word and phrase and sentence," the ghosts sigh.

They recognize the old pattern, the sudden switch from the arm around a shoulder to two hands around a throat the warm smile turned into a freezing glare, the repudiation by basom friends, the swift charges, the expulsion, the mock trial and the spatter of bullets against a wall.

Nothing new. Strictly in accordance with the script of jungle men proclaiming brotherhood, killers professing a love of justice, nervous, furtive, swift-moving men of fear ordering another bloodbath in the interest of honor and decency!

The ghosts shake their heads. So this is justice and understanding! This is the blueprint for a better world!

No tears for Beria, however. He was framer of the routine, a willing stager of the swiftest purges, a believer in all the things of which he had become a victim.

He had been in on the bloodbaths from the beginning, a tool at first, and then the ruthless master of secret police methods, the knock on the door, the dark cell and the firing squads.

Now the ghosts of the purged legions turn to a little doorway, through which the former first deputy prime minister comes hurrying. Ever a stickler for preciseness, he gets off his knees and moves to close the door.

"Leave it open," says one who had come the same way by the same pattern!

"Yes There will be others!" the butchered leaders agree, giving way to eerie laughter.

Looking Backward

FROM THE NEWS FILES

FIVE YEARS AGO — M. H. Mawhinney, a metallurgical engineer, was commended today by the American Society for Metals for his work in making possible the 1948 Metals Handbook, the world's principal compendium of metallurgical information.

Gordon F. Melow will spend a free weekend vacation in Williamsburg, Va., and Washington, D.C. as a guest of Mullins Mfg. Corp. as a result of winning the first of three contests sponsored by the company.

TEN YEARS AGO — Miss Virginia Chappell has returned from Little Rock, Ark., where she visited her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. George Thompson.

Miss Irene Duds is enjoying a two weeks' vacation away from her duties in the office of Salem City Hospital.

Mrs. R. N. Wright and daughter of Fort Thomas, Kentucky, are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard C. Smith.

TWENTY FIVE YEARS AGO — Associates of the Monday Afternoon Club were supper guests of Mrs. George Campbell yesterday. Mr. and Mrs. J. Whinnery Lease and children, Donald and Anna Mary, left Sunday morning for an automobile trip to Niagara Falls and through Canada.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Greenamyre, Arthur Greenamyre and Miss Velma Votaw have gone to Atlantic City for a week.

FORTY YEARS AGO — John Walker with Ross and James Ritchie will spend a three weeks' vacation on a 200-mile walking trip. They will entertain in small towns as well as solicit tin repair work and sell postcards of their own making.

Mr. and Mrs. James Lyle were guests at a 6 o'clock dinner given by Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Silver of Alliance.

Again vacation time rolls around for the kids — putting a quick end to mother's.

Putting friendly advice together, maybe the best way to cure a cold is to buy a drug store.

If you can't find it in the dictionary, try the notions department of any big store.

The St. Paul School Campaign

The new St. Paul Catholic school, to be built here in the fall, not only will add architectural beauty to Salem but will point up the educational program for children begun at St. Paul's back in 1904.

In that near half-century span hundreds of boys and girls have received their elementary education along with the spiritual guidance of the sisters and priests who direct the school.

The fund campaign for $200,000 to build the new school, gymnasium and parish house is no easy task, but Salem Catholics are rallying to the cause. Already $125,969 has been pledged. Rev. Fr. Gaffney and Chairman Urban Lepping are confident the goal will be met. Even non-Catholics are lending a helping hand.

What Do You Think?

President Eisenhower and his new administration are being scrutinized for the second time since they took over Washington last January.

First, there was a 100-day checkup; now it's a six-month checkup.

What do you think of the Eisenhower administration now?

This is the most popular game in politics, but there's more to it than politics.

A preponderant majority of American voters last November asserted themselves at the polling places in favor of a change in government.

To a degree without precedent in presidential elections, this desire was shared by voters of both major parties. It was a bipartisan mandate for a new point of view in Washington.

Six months after installation of a new government dedicated to this purpose, the voters' instructions in the 1952 election have been heavily discounted. Officials of the new government have found it necessary to explain that certain changes, such as reduced taxation and reduced spending, will take more time than had been expected.

The "mess in Washington," trademark of a preceding government which was unable to command a legislative majority and ultimately was unable to command a popular majority, has become a new set of complications which either must be straightened out or grow into a political handicap as serious as the one that finally ended the New Deal-Fair Deal era.

Yet there is no evidence of any significant loss of confidence in the ability of the new government to do ultimately what it has been unable to do immediately.

Even though the wolves of partisan politics and social revolution would tear the Eisenhower administration to pieces if they had a chance, there is no chance in sight.

Many of us are beginning to understand, being neither wolves of partisanship nor revolution, that too much was expected last November; that a 20-year unbalance in the two-party system had caused an unbalance in the thinking of its beneficiaries as serious as the one which existed in 1933.

Then, too, voters had persuaded themselves they could get rid of everything they didn't like by casting into outer darkness the symbols of all they had been in the habit of blaming for their personal and collective misfortunes. They called what they set out to do a "bloodless revolution."

Yet, until the beginning of World War II in 1939 and the repercussions of the war boom in 1940, the United States remained uncertain about its rate of progress.

Those who had voted out the old and voted in the new, however, never lost hope. They still had hope in 1936 more than ever, as the vote showed.

Something of the same psychology seems likely to manifest itself as the checkups of the Eisenhower administration continue — first the 100-day checkup, now the six-month checkup and, before it will seem possible, the 12-month checkup.

Wistful Wish

Members of the high-pressured 100th General Assembly of Ohio now can say with good reason that the first 100 are the hardest. They are going home.

They have been battered and bruised for 100 sessions by lobbyists who have been turned loose against them by their constituents. It is no comfort that the same constituents bellow against the threat of lobbyists in the legislature.

They have been hounded and harassed by Ohioans who want them to spend more money for a wide assortment of pet projects. And it is no comfort that these are the same Ohioans who scream and fulminate against high taxes.

Labor capital, farmers, city slickers, northern Ohioans, southern Ohioans—all of us keep pulling and hauling to make the lawmakers see things our way or else.

It's a wistful wish that sometime before the 200th General Assembly in another 150 years there might be a moratorium on high pressure while at least one legislature met and pondered the past, present and future in an atmosphere of statesmanlike deliberation.

Saving The Marriage

By HAL BOYLE

(Editor's note: A June bride often worries in July that her marriage is already for the rocks. In the following article, last of a series, a panel of elderly husbands give 10 golden guides to help her live happily ever after with the beast of her choice.

NEW YORK (AP)—After the honeymoon rainbow fades, a June bride often finds her rosy theory of matrimony is full of more holes than a Swiss cheese at a picnic of mice.

Everything is going wrong, and the girl wails desperately: "What can I do to save my marriage?"

It is hard for her to realize that things aren't really as bad as they seem, and that her plight is normal. She doesn't understand yet the difference between breaking in a husband and breaking in a girl—namely, that a husband has something to say about the matter, in his case.

Trouble often is deepened because the bride, in her panic, usually turns for advice to—

A. A sympathetic girl friend, who says, "Honey, everybody knows you got a sweet personality, and it couldn't be your fault."

B. A cynical neighbor lady who quit working at her own marriage years before and now says, "all men are bums."

C. Her lonely mother, who says, "Dear, I warned you that man was below your level. His eyes are too close together. You come home to daddy and me, baby."

It takes a pretty level-headed bride, fed all that sugared feminine flattery, not to end up feeling she is a brave, pitiful heroine dogged by more misfortune than anybody since "Liza skipped from ice-cream to ice-cream."

Why shouldn't a bride balance the picture by asking some male counsel? A man might tactfully point out to her that her husband, although undoubtedly pockmarked by sin and guilt since birth, probably doesn't lie awake at nights thinking up new ways to stick pins in her.

As a contribution to the welfare of June brides, 1953 model, I asked a panel of weatherbeaten old husbands to give me 10 rules—from their point of view—that would help guide a bride to married happiness.

"There is no point in thinking up these rules for a bride who just feels sorry for herself," one said. "They would help only a girl who really wanted her marriage to work and thought about them seriously over the years. No man can help a woman in the grip of self-pity, unless he knows her well enough to face her north and boot her from the south."

The other husbands said that was certainly true, even though they wouldn't put it in such robust terms.

After much head-scratching, they came up with 29 rules, which included some purely personal prejudices such as, "Don't try to blow smoke rings at cocktail parties," and "don't chomp toast at breakfast—men don't like grinding noises in the morning."

Finally, they weeded them down to the following "10 golden guides for brides:"

1. Your husband is neither your father nor the man of your dreams. He is only the man you married. You must face the fact he is a human being and has spent years developing his own personality, revolting as it is. By law, he is protected by the bill of rights just as much as you are.

2. Don't be hasty about trying to change your husband's small faults. He may go on to bigger ones. Anyway, you'll never learn to like olives if you insist they have to taste like grapes.

3. Great emotions are generally silent, including love. Don't fret because your husband takes your love for granted. What is love but a willing grant? You can teach a parrot to say "I love you" all day long—but he won't bring you home a paycheck.

4. Put your home-keeping and the comfort of your husband above every outside interest. Joan of Arc did save France, but—remember—she was a sing' girl.

5. If you run your house well, you couldn't possibly have the time to run your husband's job well, too. Let him run it.

6. Don't try to make him jealous by telling him how attractive other men find you. He is more likely to worry that you have been behaving cheaply.

7. A well-fed husband is usually a good-tempered husband. Never throw three cold meals at him in a row, unless you want to bring out the east in him.

8. A man yearns to be proud of his wife. She can destroy that pride most easily by personal untidiness and by making a fool of herself in public.

9. No matter how small your budget, try to get out together one night a week, even if you only go for a walk and look up and count the stars.

10. Never forget a woman is stronger than a man, and your husband needs your love and loyalty and understanding even more than you need these things from him. Marriage is a 50-50 deal only over a lifetime. The score varies from day to day. A wise wife, no matter how foolish her husband has been, will never make him feel the score is 100-0 against him.

One member of this all-male panel of advisers stubbornly held out for one other rule.

"A bride should never bet the rent money at a racetrack," he said. "That'll curdle a marriage quicker than anything I know."

ALLEGED DESERTER HELD
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—FBI agents have arrested Garold Edwin Payton, 26, of Newport, R. I., on a charge of deserting from the Air Force at Patrick Air Force Base, Fla., last April 14. The FBI said Payton had been living at his brother's home in Columbus and at Cambridge, Ohio.

SOME LIFE PRESERVERS

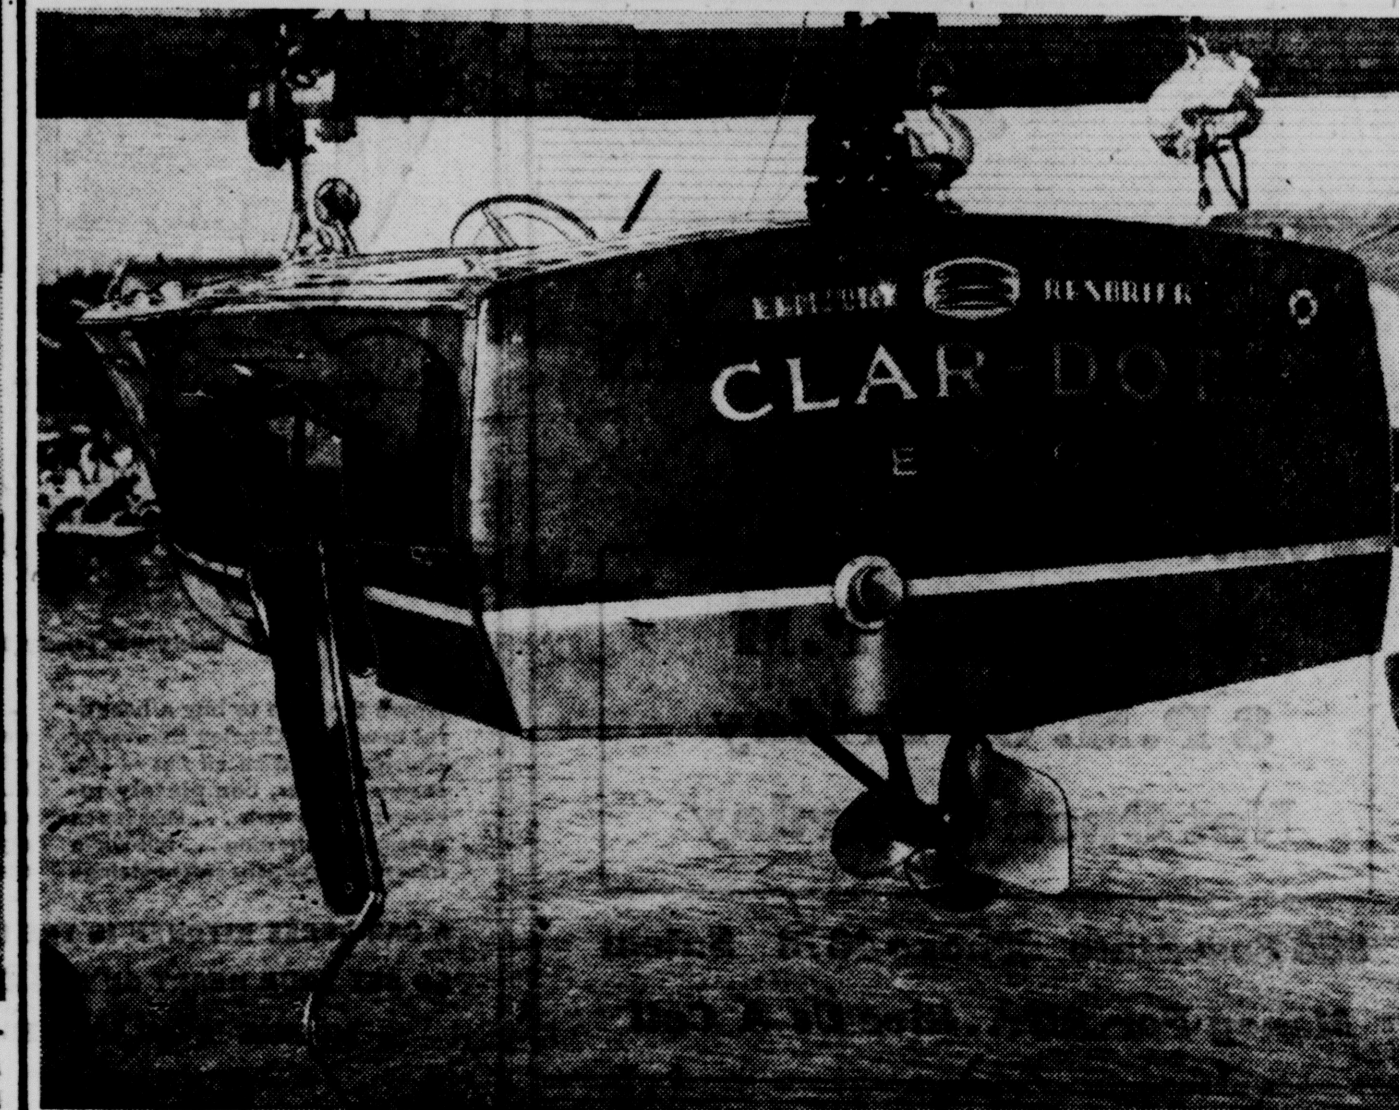

DO YOU FEEL all "at sea" when it comes to the safe handling of small boats? If so, the United States Coast Guard has some advice that may save your life or your boat this summer. Since a disproportionately high number of accidents occur on motorboats, the owner should make certain he carries life preservers for everyone aboard as well as a fire extinguisher. Each boat must contain the correct number of running lights forward and aft. Boat owners should remember that they must NOT (1) overload the boat; (2) allow gas or oil in the bilge; (3) use a gasoline stove; (4) fail to reduce speed in mooring fields or (5) lie at anchor with short cable. These pictures show what happens if you're careless.

Scout Killed By Train En Route To Jamboree

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—A Wisconsin boy scout died last night, a Memorial Hospital official said, of injuries received when he fell from one train and was run over by another while en route to the National Boy Scout Jamboree near Los Angeles.

The victim, Roger Swenson, 15, of Hayward, Wis., was injured early Tuesday at Leith, Nev., 86 miles east of here. His left arm was severed at the shoulder. His right arm and both legs were broken.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The state pardon and parole board yesterday paroled 44 Ohio State Reformatory inmates. The board said there will be no more paroles granted until September.

Prosecutor, Auditor Tangle On Expense List

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—The Republican state auditor and Stark County's Democratic prosecutor were squared off today in a fuss over how the prosecutor handled his expense account.

The squabble started yesterday when Auditor James A. Rhodes said an examiner's report showed Stark Prosecutor John Rossetti failed to itemize $3,915 of expenditures from his expense account as required by an Ohio statute.

Rossetti declared the report contained "bold and pure lies," and described Rhodes' statement a "cheap political trick." He said he had itemized his expenses properly.

Told of Rossetti's statement, Rhodes said last night: "Any statement issued by the prosecutor's office in Stark County will have action taken accordingly." He did not say what type of action he meant.

In his initial announcement, Rhodes said state law provides the prosecutor funds equal to half his salary for expenses incurred on official duties, but requires him to file an itemized expense statement with the county auditor. He said this was not done in Stark County in 1950, 1951 and 1952.

The only official finding filed against Rossetti was one for $13 because public funds were used to pay premiums on fidelity bonds of notaries public in his office. Bond premiums were held to be personal expenses of the clerks acting as notaries.

Rhodes said the statute covering expenditure reports carries no penalty for violators.

PARAMUS, N. J. (AP)—Three-year-old Allison Bek-Gran was scared of cops.

She bolted everytime one hove into sight.

They brought the little girl to police headquarters and turned her loose.

The nice big men let her use their phone. They conducted her on a grand tour of the station house. And they talked to her.

That did it. Little Miss Bek-Gran plans to call again for another visit real soon.

Spell Out United States On Exports, Urge

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate passed and sent to the House yesterday a resolution urging that all exporters of goods made in the United States mark their containers with the words "United States of America," not just "U. S. A."

Sen. Potter (R-Mich.) told the Senate, "Communists have taken advantage of that (marking) and changed U. S. A. to U. S. S. R."

They are Sgt. W. E. Timberlake of the Ohio State Highway Patrol, stationed at Massillon, and Patrolman John J. Blend of the Canton police department.

A total of 31 officers from 22 states won awards to study at the institute from Sept. 24 through next June 15.

Edison Seeks Boost In Industrial Rates

Ohio Edison Company today filed an application with the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio for permission to file revised rate schedules for industrial power service.

The proposed changes are estimated to increase the company's annual revenue from industrial power sales by approximately $1,900,000 from $31,500,000 to $33,400,000 and would also result in the establishment of uniform rates or industrial power throughout Edison's entire service area. The increase in annual revenue after taxes would amount to approximately $650,000, the company said.

Except for a coal clause adjustment, this is the first time in over 20 years that the Edison Company has sought a general increase in its rates for industrial power.

Since World War II Ohio Edison has expended approximately $165,000,000 for power plant additions, transmission and distribution lines and substations, and for other electric plant additions in Ohio. Construction expenditures last year were $34,600,000 and are expected to total $54,700,000 in 1953. Engineering studies indicate that large amounts of new capital will be required for property additions in future years.

Rosen Homers With 3 On As Tribe Beats A's, 5-3

Garcia Notches 11th Triumph; Hegan Also Blasts Home Run

CLEVELAND (AP)—Mike Garcia won a 5-3 victory for Cleveland last night over the Philadelphia Athletics, his 11th against six losses.

Bob Lemon hurls tonight against the A's Bobby Shantz.

The game last night was decided in one swipe of Al Rosen's powerful bat. The league's leader in homers and runs batted in tightened his grip on both honors with a grand-slam homer in the third inning to put Cleveland ahead 4-0.

It was Rosen's 23rd homer and second grand slam blow of the season. It raised his RBI's to 76.

Rosen's clout was off rookie righthander Mario Fricano after a double by Garcia and two walks. Jim Hegan lifted one over the left field fence in the next inning for Cleveland's final run.

The Athletics pounded Garcia for 10 hits, including successive homers to right and left fields in the sixth by Eddie Robinson and Gus Zernial. These two longball hitters also struck successive singles in the fourth, and when Loren Babe bounced a base hit to center, the A's scored their first run of the game.

Redlegs Drop 2 To Phillies

Podbielan Pitches 7 Innings Perfect Ball

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Bud Podbielan and Ken Raffensberger ran almost a dead heat last night for hard luck pitching as the Cincinnati Redlegs opened an Eastern swing by taking 3-1 and 3-2 beatings from the Philadelphia Phillies.

Podbielan pitched perfect baseball — not a Phil on base — for seven of the eight frames his foes came to bat. But they clipped him for three runs and three hits in the seventh inning and that was the ball game.

Raffensberger was almost as good for six innings, allowing only three hits. In the seventh, however, the Phils got him for a run and then it came in the eighth as Grady Sizemore's two-run homer gave the Phils their victory.

Podbielan was terrific for six and two-thirds innings. Then Johnny Wyrostek singled. Del Ennis followed with another one-base blow. The Reds elected to walk Hammer to fill the bases but Smoky Burgess doubled to drive in the three runs. Bob Roberts needed for his 15th pitching triumph of the season.

Gus Bell's 23rd home run of the season in the eighth accounted for the only Cincinnati run.

The Reds in the second game had a 2-0 lead off Karl Drews when Raffensberger began to weaken. The two Cincinnati runs came in the sixth on Bobby Adams' single, a sacrifice by Bell and singles by Ted Kluszewski and Jim Green grass.

A double by Willie Jones and Connie Ryan's single gave the Phils one run in the seventh. Ennis' double in the eighth set the stage for Hammer to clout his home run.

The second game was marked by a temper flareup as Roy McMillan tied into Drews after a mix-up at first base.

Drews bowled McMillan over as he tagged him out in a play at first base in the third inning. Both players went down and Roy started swinging. Players on both teams got them separated before any damage was done.

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Two Northern Ohio girls, who between them have won the last three state women's golf championships, were fighting it out again today in the finals of the 30th annual tournament.

Claire Doran, 29-year-old Cleveland school teacher, and Carol Dinger, 27-year-old Tiffin hotel employee, advanced to the finals with easy victories yesterday over the 6,340-yard course at the Dayton Country Club.

30-Day Squirrel Season 3-Day Deer Hunting Set

COLUMBUS — Ohio hunters will have a 30-day squirrel season this year and have been assured a three-day deer hunting season.

The Ohio Wildlife Council, meeting in Columbus following the annual state game hearing Thursday, at which recommendations for the 1953 hunting season were made by sportsmen and farmer representatives, for the second consecutive year established a 30-day squirrel season, extending from Sept. 15 through Oct. 15.

A daily bag limit of four was set for squirrels.

The season was established after giving consideration to both the recommendations of the game management section of the Ohio Division of Wildlife and to the recommendations made by the representatives of the five inland Wildlife districts. All but one district recommended a 30-day season, and three of the five requested the dates be the same as last year.

Although the counties in which an open season will be held were held in abeyance, the Council definitely established a three-day gun deer season for 1953. The dates of December 17 through December 19 were designated.

Ohio archers were given a liberal season of December 17 through January 1. Council extended the period for the bow and arrow hunter because there is little danger of damage to the herd from this type of hunting. Last year the archers failed to kill one deer in Carroll County which was open only for bow and arrow hunting. All five districts recommended an open season for deer at the state game hearing.

Although the Wildlife Council did not designate the counties which will have an open season they have taken under advisement a recommendation by the game management section which would open 42 eastern Ohio and central Ohio counties.

The game management section recommended that the following counties be opened for the taking of deer during the legal season: Lorain, Cuyahoga, Lake, Ashtabula, Medina, Summit, Portage, Mahoning, Ashland, Wayne, Stark, Lumbiana, Knox, Holmes, Tuscarawas, Carroll, Jefferson, Harrison, Licking, Coshocton, Muskingum, Guernsey, Belmont, Fairfield, Perry, Morgan, Noble, Monroe, Hocking, Athens, Washington, Ross, Vinton, Meigs, Pike, Jackson, Gallia, Adams, Scioto, Lawrence, Geauga and Trumbull.

The game management section has recommended that hunters choice (does, bucks or fawns) may be taken in all counties except Adams and Scioto where hunting will be restricted to bucks only.

TOLEDO SOX RISE Boosts Attendance
TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—The Toledo Sox's surge from the cellar to the top of the American Association in the past two months has made a local hero out of George (Tinkles) Selkirk, former New York Yankee outfielder.

Selkirk, Canadian-born and 45, took over as Sox Manager May 16. Since then the team climbed up from the bottom of the league, reached first for a brief spell and now is a game and a half back of pace-setting Indianapolis.

The fans give much of the credit to Selkirk, who has nearly a quarter-century's baseball experience behind him.

The Sox's sudden reversal of form is pouring money into the coffers of Lou Perini, the Braves owner who moved his National League team from Boston to Milwaukee and then transferred his championship farm club from the Wisconsin city to Toledo.

More than 200,000 customers have already passed through the Toledo turnstiles — more than at any other park in the circuit. Already the Sox have drawn more fans than they did all last year at Milwaukee where 195,839 turned out while they were winning the title.

Newport Chief Wins $5,000 Utica Pace
SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y. (AP)—Newport Stock Farms' Newport Chief from South Plainfield, N. J., boosted his stock for the famed Little Brown Jug by scoring impressively in the $5,000 Utica Pace last night at Saratoga Raceway.

The three-year-old Chief Abdale colt flashed home in 2:01 3-5, setting a new track record for sophomore pacers and a new season standard. Thunderclap set the former mark of 2:01 4-5 a year ago.

Saunders Mills Stable's Knox Hanover from Toledo, Ohio, was second and Dr. F. R. McNabb's Hillsota from Ithaca, Mich., was third.

Sharp Note, 1952 Hambletonian winner, captured the co-toured $5,000 Chatham free-for-all with a mile in 2:02.

It didn't take the New York Yankees long to find out that this Western trip is going to be different.

Only a month ago the league leaders blazed through St. Louis, Chicago, Cleveland and Detroit on an all-victorious tour of 14 games. This time they got stopped before they got started.

The Yankees virtually invented the home run and the lowly St. Louis Browns made them mighty sorry for it in the opening game of a twilight-night twin bill. The Browns pounded three in a row out of the park in the first inning, tying the major league record—and added two more later in the contest for an 8-6 victory. The defeat was the first of the year for the Yankees in St. Louis and although they rallied to take the nightcap 7-3, they lost a full game of their first place margin to the hustling Chicago White Sox, double winners over Washington.

The Sox won the first game in 10 innings 6-5 and the second 5-4 over the regulation distance. Billy Pierce, pitching in relief for only the second time this season, drove home the deciding run with a single in the first game for his 11th victory. A pinch hit home run by Eddie Stewart made the difference in the second. The Sox now trail by four.

The two other first division American League teams also triumphed. Cleveland beat Philadelphia 5-3 on Al Rosen's grand slam home run and Boston nipped Detroit 3-2 with Mel Parnell winning his 13th game, tops in the circuit.

Brooklyn increased its National League lead to 2½ games by trouncing St. Louis, 9-2, while second place Milwaukee was losing to Pittsburgh, 5-2. Philadelphia won a couple of squeakers from Cincinnati, 3-1 and 3-2. And the New York Giants, who had won eight in a row before the Dodgers stopped them in the final game before the All-Star break, resumed their winning habits with a 10-3 decision over Chicago.

Home runs were a big item in almost every game. Out of 11 contests in the two leagues the only one without a homer was the Milwaukee-Pittsburgh affair. The total production was 24 of which 15 were in the American League.

In addition to tying the 3-in-an-inning record the Browns equalled the major league mark of 17 homers in 5 consecutive games. It was the first time this mark had been tied since it was set by the Yankees of 1940.

Washington forced the White Sox to come from behind for both of their victories. A double by Mike Garcia and a pair of walks set the stage for Rosen's grand slam at Cleveland. The blast broke up a scoreless duel between Garcia and Marion Efranco, the A's rookie.

The Dodgers struck quickly and decisively against the Cardinals. With one out they loaded the bases in the first inning and Gil Hodges drilled a Stu Miller pitch high and far for the Dodgers' first grand slam home run of the year. Hodges and Duke Snider hit two more home runs later in the game as Preacher Roe scored his sixth victory.

Pittsburgh broke a 10 game losing streak with a rookie, Carlos Bernier, playing the starring role. He drove in two runs and scored a third by stealing home. Johnny Antonelli was the loser against Bob Friend.

Robin Roberts won his 15th game of the year in the opener against Cincinnati although he gave up 10 hits to only 3 by loser Bud Podbielan. The Cincinnati righthander retired the first 20 men he faced but the Phillies bunched a walk, two singles and a double by Smoky Burgess to score three runs in the seventh inning.

Granny Hamner drove in two tallies with a home run in the eighth inning of the nightcap as the Phillies ran their winning streak to seven games.

Hank Sauer homered with two on for Chicago in the first inning at New York but from then on the Giants were in complete command. Sal Maglie won his eighth game with home run help from Whitey Lockman, Al Dark and Don Mueller.

Hogan Says Getting Ruffled Hurts Game

By JOHN RODERICK

PARIS (AP)—Mechanical man? A golf machine? Nervous?

These superlatives have been heaped on Ben Hogan, golf's mighty mite from Fort Worth, Tex.

But what does the winner of the United States Open and British Open think?

"Well," he smiled last night before boarding the boat train for Le Havre where he embarked for New York on the United States. "I'm only human, of course. But there's no point in getting ruffled. It just interferes with your game."

He said the European courses were a great deal different from those he was used to playing in the United States.

"Here they just make a tee and a green and then cut the grass in between," he observed. "Then they toss in a few bunkers and traps. This was true of Carnoustie (where he won the British Open). In the United States we tailor our courses more. We manicure them."

Before taking off from Paris Ben learned that New York was planning a ticker tape welcome when he arrived there. The United States was scheduled to dock Tuesday. He said it was fine with him.

(In New York Grover Whalen, the city's official greeter of dignitaries, said Hogan and his wife, Valerie, would be escorted in a motorcade to City Hall for a greeting by Mayor Vincent Impellitteri, then taken on the traditional ticker tape ride up Lower Broadway.)

He was impressed by the rave notices he received in the British press. Some English sports writers said he was the greatest golfer ever.

"It's real kind of those folks to say so," he said. "It's nice to know they have so much confidence and faith in you. But I hope I never become perfect. Because then, where do you go from there? Down, that's where."

After the New York welcome, Ben and Valerie are going fishing in Canada.

"I need the rest," he said. "I've been playing and practicing since last March and I feel pretty tired."

How about his shootin' irons. "I'm taking my clubs with me. They go wherever I go."

Louisville Blanks Charleston, 8-0

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Louisville solidified its newly-won third place spot in the American Association last night by blanking the tailend Charleston Senators 8-0.

Al Curtis stifled Charleston with a three-hitter.

In the night's only other game scheduled, Minneapolis took a 1-0 decision over St. Paul as Harry Nicholas scattered seven hits and scored the only run.

ONE LEAGUE PRACTICE SET

The Pony League All-Star team will practice tonight at 6 at Centennial Park, manager Pete Sanders announced today.

Gordon Leather, Bliss, D.A.V. Victors In Little League Play

First place Gordon Leather edged Salm Concrete, 7-6, and the D.A.V. whipped the Electric Furnace C.I.O., 12-8, in Minor League action last night at Centennial Park.

In Pony League play the Bliss Co. trounced Mullins, 12-2. Aldom's Diner and the Eljer Co. C.I.O. played to a 7-7 tie in five innings. The game will be replayed as soon as possible under protests from the Eljer squad.

Both Gordon Leather and Salm Concrete managed five hits off their respective opposing pitchers. Rhodes, Lease, Stetls, Schorrenberg, and Paulini all hit safely for the winning Leather nine.

E. Sommer led the Concrete squad with two hits. Wright Dahms, and Butcher had one hit apiece for the Concrete team.

Starbuck pitched 1 1-3 innings for the D.A.V. and then was relieved by Swenningson, who pitched three innings. Copacia came in and finished the game for the D.A.V. All three of these pitchers together gave up only one hit to the Furnace squad. Swenningson gets credit for the victory. Copacia and Del Favero each had two hits for the winning D.A.V. nine. Stump had the lone Electric Furnace hit.

Canfield To Hold Mid-Season Championship Stock-Car Race

The Canfield Speedway will run its mid-season championship Stock Car Race Saturday night.

Dick Linder of Pittsburgh won the mid-season championship last year and expects to drive his Double Zero again tomorrow. Jimmy Romine of Youngstown and Mike Klapak, national champion from Warren, crossed the finish line in second and third positions in the classic last year.

This year the odds are against a repeat performance for these three drivers as many of the younger drivers have "sharper" cars and have improved their driving so much this year that the veteran drivers are being outdistanced at the Canfield racing oval.

The season's racing favorite this year is Wes Crowley of Boardman, who has carried the winner's flag three times. Dave Dangerfield of Youngstown holds the Canfield track record and is about due in the winner's circle. Dangerfield got a late start at Canfield this season, but is climbing fast in the points standings.

The mid-season championship race is a 50 lap event on the quarter mile track with an extra large field of drivers on hand to take the starter's flag.

The program tomorrow night includes time trials, four heat races, the very popular Australian Pursuit race, topped off by the 50-lap championship event.

Former Ohio Coach Recalls 'Great Thrill'

By H. W. ENSWILER

Ohio High School Commissioner COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—My greatest thrill in sports came in the fall of 1917, my second year as a teacher at Columbus East High.

Coach Cordray had gone into the Army during the summer; principal Skimming assigned me the job of coaching football, with the promise it would be for one season only.

I carried a full teaching load, and received $75 extra for coaching. I paid John Pixler $25 of the $75 for helping me with the squad. A local newspaper greeted the announcement of my coaching assignment by calling me a "modern Zupke." My only experience as a player had been at little Utica High, where I later coached for four years while serving as principal.

Chie Harley, Joe Murphy, and the Courtneys and Thurnmans had graduated, and no scintillating stars arose at East that fall of '17. But we had plenty of lesser lights in Bodell, Carroll, Cianfonia, Devore, Elgin, Fuller, Hecox, Hunter, Isabel, Long, Moody, Pixley, Shaw, Stewart, Thomas and others.

We won a couple of out-of-town games, then tied our first City league contest 6-6. In the latter we suffered several "delay of game" penalties because of a senior who balked at "going through the line." He turned in his suit on Monday, but was reinstated a few days later.

We squeaked by Toledo Waite's powerhouse 14-13, and won decisively over South, Central, Aquinas and Marion.

Then came Columbus North, for us, in 1917, the North-East game had as much tradition and rivalry and frenzy as the Army-Navy or Michigan-Ohio games ever had.

The week prior to the big one a newspaper headline said "Emsstill tinkering with line."

We were, but it was a complete and unhappy surprise for North when, on old Ohio Field, they discovered that Capt. Eddie Elgin had been shifted from halfback to tackle, and Wilmer Isabel from the backfield to end.

The East players performed like demons that day. The day before the game the newspapers predicted a decisive victory for North—but you can't predict when an entire team will catch fire.

As John Bodell was being carried from the field with a broken leg, he shook his fist and shouted: "Stay in there, East. You've got 'em!"

He was right, and Harry Long made two touchdowns through the ine.

That night the headlines read: "Wow! Dope Bucket Upset. East 13-North 3."

It was a fine team victory, and a thriller for all of us at East. The week after the game the boys came to me with $150 as an extra inducement to continue coaching.

Perhaps my greatest thrill was right then when I knew how those boys felt toward me despite rough sledding at times.

Little wonder that coaches hate to quit.

Mr. Emswiler, following a long, illustrious career as teacher, coach, principal, and official, has served since the mid-1940s as commissioner of Ohio high school athletics. He has silver hair and a soft voice, and is a giant among men despite his not-too-husky physique.

French Capture Key Indochina City

WITH FRENCH AIR FORCE AT LANGSON, Indochina (AP)—French Union paratroopers in the most daring surprise raid of the 7-year-long Indochinese war today captured the city of Langson within 10 miles of Communist China's border.

The airborne units attacked as the Communist-led Vietminh forces breakfasted. The French troops quickly overwhelmed light enemy resistance.

The attackers then blew up all bridges over the Kuyua River connecting Langson with China's Kwangsi Province.

Thus, at one lightning blow, the paratroopers knocked out the chief link in the supply line over which French officers say the Chinese Reds have been sending 3,000 tons of war equipment each month to the Vietminh guerrillas.

sions and the ROK 2nd and 3rd Divisions. The Turkish brigade, Philippines battalion combat team and Greek battalion were attached to the U. S. 3rd Division.

Other fighting raged far to the east, as the Communists made light assaults around Luke the Gook's Castle and Anchor Hill.

"We stopped them cold last night—they didn't move an inch after midnight," said the senior adviser to the crack ROK division guarding an approach to Kumhwa. He is Col. William Spicer, Cortland, N. Y.

"They ran into a bunch of wild horses in this division."

"We went back up the hill this morning and took two outposts back that we had to give up last night," he added. "We wanted them."

Edwards flew over the eastern half of the battlefield, just west of the Pukhan River, and reported a steady movement north toward the Kumsong River.

Edwards said it was more a reoccupation of lightly held territory than a genuine riproaring offensive such as the Chinese launched Monday night.

In some places Chinese resisted only with small arms and machine gun fire and lacked artillery.

Edwards said a few Red tanks were spotted below the Kumsong River but had disappeared—either north of the river or into concealing underbrush.

Maj. Gen. Samuel Williams, 25th Division commander serving as special adviser to a ROK Army corps, told Edwards that the east half of the Kumsong line is now "very favorable."

"The retrograde (backward) movement of July 14 has now been reversed in all ROK divisions in this sector," Williams said. "We are now pushing back north."

Advancing ROKs ran into their first heavy fighting roughly south of Kumsong itself where two Chinese companies were defending hills with mortar and artillery support. The ROKs were maneuvering with tanks and infantry.

There were gains up to one mile across a broad stretch of the three-division offensive. Details would have to wait until more time had passed.

ROK soldiers and generals were jubilant at the quick advance but some American advisers with them suggested that the easy reoccupation of lost territory indicated the ROKs had pulled back too fast in the first place.

It became more and more apparent that the Reds had not dared to gamble on any serious advance south of the Kumsong even though the retreating ROKs failed to blow several bridges in the withdrawal.

The Communists may have feared a quick Allied counterblow that would pin them against a flooded river. Navy and Air Force planes blew up the bridges Thursday.

3rd Scout Jamboree Opens In California

JAMBOREE CITY, Calif. (AP)—After five days of preliminaries and happy chaos a pattern of order and purpose emerged here today as the third National Jamboree of the Boy Scouts of America was officially opened.

It was a great day for the thousands upon thousands of scouts in this vast tent city. Many of them scripped and saved for months to make the long trek from East, Midwest, North and South to this Southern California ranch.

They have been pouring into the 3,000-acre campsite on the shores of the Pacific since last Sunday and today virtually every boy expected was on hand for the flag raising ceremonies that made the opening official.

Tonight the scouts will mass in a great outdoor amphitheater overlooking the ocean for the opening show and to hear a transcription of a welcoming address by President Eisenhower, who is honorary president of the Boy Scouts of America. He was invited to the Jamboree but found he was unable to leave Washington for an appearance here. Vice President Richard Nixon has accepted an invitation to speak at the Jamboree convocation Sunday evening.

Then it was suggested that the customers, all 16 of them, pitch in and buy the company. A purchase price of $1,400 was mentioned. The PSC took the case under advisement.
